MISCELLANEOUS READING.

A CURIOUS FRAUD. The New York Musical Gazette describes a singular kind of fraud which, it says, has long been in vogue among Italian opera singers, and which, if its story be true, goes far to prove that the inhabitants of Yankee land are yet novices in the art of deception . The fraud was exposed by a young French artist, who, after studying some time at Milan, was on the eve of making his debut at one of the petty theatres which are so numerous in Italy. An Italian called on him, and learning that he was a barytone, and that he designed to appear under an assumed name, immediately drew from his pocket four rolls of paper, one endorsed Arnoldi, another Ramondi, the third Bramanti, and the last Alberti; he explained that all these names had the beginning of a reputation-all being barytones-Arnoldi was famous for his fine personal appearance and admirable voice; Ramondi had a great deal of warmth and the sol natural; Bramanti was an excellent actor, handsome man, and admirable vocalist; while Alberti was almost as celebrated, he having been recalled fifteen times in his last opera. And yet these famous singers were all men of straw, having no actual existence! The Italian had invented the names, and had made them famous by lying puffs, for the purpose, as he said, of giving them to young artists, who thus might step at once into character and reputation, and save themselves nal, speaks thus to his readers : "Those who think that, in order to dress well, it is necessary to dress extravagantly and guadily, make a great mistake. Nothing so well becomes true feminine beauty as simplicity. We have seen many a remarkably fine person robbed of its fine effect by being over dressed. Nothing is more unbe 35 00 coming than overloaded beauty. The sim plicity of the classic taste is seen in old statues, and pictures painted by men of very superior artistic genius. In Athens, the ladies were not gaudily, but simply arrayed, and we doubt whether any ladies ever excited more admiration. So also the noble old Roman matrons, whose superb forms were $4,000 gazed on delightedly by men worthy of them. 3,000 were always very plainly dressed. Fashion 2,000 often presents the lines of the butterfly, but 1,000 fashion is not a classic goddess."

A MODEL JURY.

We saw in one of our English exchanges that two men were lately indicted at the Stafford sessions for stealing port wine. They went to the White Hart cellar, and having got drunk, stole a bottle of port from the bin and hid it. It was deemed essential the jury should decide whether the stolen wine was actually taken from the bin in immediately after it is over to all who order question, and this could only be done by tasting. Two bottles were accordingly hand-Wilmington, Delaware. ed, but so difficult was the point that the jury were unable to arrive at any satisfactory decision until they had finished both bottles. They then convicted the prisoners-on which the prisoners' counsel remarked that if they OF KING AND PITT STREETS, are now in receipt had not done justice to their clients, they had certainly done justice to the wine.

I had medical skill of the highest order, through whose treatment, and under the guidance of a higher than mortal power, my life was prolonged till March, 1853, when I commenced the use of Dr. Kidwell's Beech Drop, or Extract of Cancer Root. Since that period I have taken about six bottles of the medicine, and it gives nee pleasure to state that it has effected an entire cure, with the exception of weakness, occasioned by long confinement to my room. I would advise all persons similarly affacted to try it. I consider it an invaluable medicine. The humbugs usually palmed upon the public in the shape of cer-tificates favorable to the virtues of medicines, almost deter me from giving mine; but a sense of justice, and humanity alone, prompts me to make the above statement.
